

Agraferm GmbH is one of the few full-service providers of agricultural and industrially designed biogas systems. In addition to project planning and construction of biogas systems, its range of services includes technical and biological service for its own and third-party systems. Our wholly owned subsidiary, BTA International GmbH, has been one of the most competent suppliers of processing and fermentation technology for almost 40 years, whose concept is used in waste disposal systems all over the world. Our employees support our subsidiary within the scope of project development and implementation.

To strengthen our team at Pfaffenhofen, we are looking for a part-time or full-time employee at the earliest opportunity for the following position:

Project engineer (m/f/d)

your duties:

- Preparation of piping and instrumentation diagrams
- Preparation of technical descriptions, process descriptions
- Preparation of process engineering calculations
- Preparation of technical apparatus specifications
- Support of the purchasing department in technical negotiations
- Support during the commissioning of plants
- Assembly supervision of key components

your profile:

For this position we are looking for an engineer in the field of mechanical, process and/or environmental engineering, preferably with 3 years professional experience in one of these fields. Several years of experience in the field of biological waste treatment and fermentation is an advantage. Good IT knowledge, especially of MS Office, is mandatory; CAD knowledge is an advantage. You are highly motivated and have a self-reliant way of working. Success-, result- and customer-oriented thinking and working is what sets you apart. The task requires willingness to travel worldwide, flexibility, resilience and a very good command of spoken and written English. Other foreign languages such as Spanish, Portuguese or French are an advantage.

We offer you a varied and responsible job in a highly motivated, friendly team and good development prospects in a dynamic future market. We are a modern, family-friendly employer and therefore welcome applications from women and men with family obligations. Flexible working hours and work-time models enable the compatibility of career and family.

Please send us your complete and informative application documents, the possible starting date and your salary expectations, if possible only by e-mail.
